

Invitation

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to exhibit at the 30th International Congress on Sound and Vibrations (ICSV30) to be held at the Postillion Hotel in the beautiful city of Amsterdam, Netherlands, from 8 - 11 July 2024. This congress is a part of an important series of ICSV congresses held annually all over the world and organized by the International Institute of Acoustics and Vibration (IIAV) together with the Dutch Acoustical Society (NAG).

ICSV congresses are international events in the fields of acoustics, noise, and vibration and are great opportunities for you to present your latest scientific and experimental results, advertise your company and products, and promote the most advanced theories, technologies, and applications in these fields to ICSV30 participants.

From previous experience in organizing such international congresses, we are expecting about 800 participants coming from more than 60 countries from all over the world.

As a participant in the exhibition, you will also receive a free 1/4-page AD in the IIAV's flagship technical journal, the International Journal of Acoustics and Vibration (IJAV). We are pleased to offer confirmed exhibitors one free 1/4 page black and white advert per company in the June 2024 electronic issue of (IJAV). This will bring your company's products to the attention of an even wider global audience. IJAV is the refereed open-access journal of the International Institute of Acoustics and Vibration (IIAV).

We would like to inform you that already a few exhibitors from different countries have agreed to exhibit at the ICSV30 in Amsterdam. Your company's participation in such a globally recognized event will bring your company's products to the attention of participants from 60 countries, many of whom are leading engineers and scientists, and decision makers in charge of purchasing sound and vibration electronics, equipment, software, and services. It can also be a great occasion to meet other exhibitors and develop business partnerships.

Please visit icsv30.org for further information where current exhibitors are featured. Please note that the exhibition space is limited and the application deadline for both sponsorship and exhibition is 1 March 2024.

If you have any questions regarding the exhibition or the sponsorship program, please, contact ICSV30 exhibition team at sponsors@icsv30.org with a copy at secretariat@icsv30.org.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Acoustically yours,

Michel Rosmolen, ICSV30 Exhibition Manager